

The "vanity call sign fee" is not a fee at all. Rather, it is a tax, except for a small part of the first time application.

You should not be singling out for taxation persons who provide a public service at their own expense. This is a very bad and wrongheaded idea. Save money by firing the person who came up with this idea; he is part of the problem.

especially because the current administration is trying to lower taxes. to cover administrative expense.
